

How to Use Commuter Check: Bay Area

Adobe's Commute Alternatives Program helps employees find alternative transportation to and from work that is convenient, affordable and sustainable.

The commute program provides all employees with a $150/month subsidy for transit/vanpooling and parking, or a $20/month subsidy for biking. Employees are eligible for one type of subsidy per month. Please keep in mind that the $150 subsidy is for transit/vanpooling and parking combined. You may divide the $150 between each of these modes however you choose.

- The commuter dollars provided by Adobe are provided free of any payroll implications and are in no way linked to your paycheck. It is provided for you to use as needed.
- The commuter dollars count toward the IRS' monthly pre-tax commuter benefits cap of $260 for transit and $260 for parking. Only orders that exceed Adobe's $150 subsidy will be deducted pre-tax from your payroll, up to the respective $260 monthly caps. Amounts exceeding the $260 monthly caps will require payment via personal credit card.
- For example: a monthly order of $300 will be broken down as: $150 subsidized by Adobe, $110 deducted pre-tax from payroll, $40 paid via credit card.

The first $150 of your order is completely subsidized by Adobe. To take advantage of the full subsidy amount only, enter '150' under the monthly parking expense. Any amount between $150 and up to $260 (the monthly parking pre-tax cap set by the IRS) will be automatically deducted pre-tax from your paycheck. Any amount greater than $260 will require payment via credit card.

*Please keep in mind that if you have already placed a transit order, the $150 subsidy counts towards that order first. Any leftover amount from the subsidy will go towards parking next. The IRS allows up to $260 a month in pre-tax salary to be used for transit/vanpool and $260 a month in pre-tax for parking. That combines to a total of $520 in pre-tax funds that can be used for both transit/vanpool and parking. Adobe only subsidizes the first $150 of these pre-tax funds.

For example, a monthly parking order of $300 will be broken down as: $150 subsidized by Adobe, $110 deducted pre-tax from payroll, and $40 paid via credit card.

*If a monthly transit/vanpool order of $150 has already been placed, and a monthly parking order of $300 is placed, the breakdown will be: $150 for transit/vanpool subsidized by Adobe, $260 for parking deducted pre-tax from payroll, and $40 paid via credit card
