Preventive care: Are you up to date?

Preventive care lets you and your doctor know what’s going on with your health and can reveal potential problems. Your Aetna® plan covers routine physical exams, well-woman exams, cancer screenings, vaccines and certain preventive medications at 100%.

The best way to stay up to date with preventive care is to schedule your annual routine physical exam with your primary care provider (PCP). Your PCP can tell you which preventive services are right for you based on your needs and health history. They can also provide basic, non-emergency care and help you find the right specialist when you need one.

To find a PCP, log in at Aetna.com and click Find Care & Pricing. Look for the Quality & Effective Care label next to providers who meet a higher standard of quality and cost-effectiveness. The designation applies to certain specialties, including primary care, cardiology and obstetrics and gynecology.

The chart below shows what’s generally recommended for women. Your needs may vary, so talk with your doctor about what’s right for you.

Screenings and vaccines	Age
Routine physical exam	18+
Blood pressure screening	18+
Influenza (flu shot)	18+
Cholesterol test	18+
Well-woman exam	21+
Pap test (cervical cancer)	21+
Mammogram (breast cancer)	Covered at any age; recommended 40 and up
Colorectal cancer screening	45+
Shingles vaccine	50+
Osteoporosis (bone density test)	65+

For a complete list of covered care, see Women’s health on Benefits.Aetna.com.

If you’re gender non-conforming, non-binary or on the transgender continuum, your needs may be different. Be sure to talk with your provider about which screenings are appropriate based on your personal situation, including screenings not listed.

Two important preventive services that could save your life

Mammogram: An X-ray of the breast. Recommended once each year starting at age 40.

Pap test: A test that collects cells from the cervix. Women should start getting this screening at age 21 and continue every three to five years, depending on doctor recommendations..

Women's health support and services

Whether you're planning a family, in menopause or experiencing another common health concern for women, you've got expert support and benefits available to help.

Fertility support

When you need fertility support, your first step is to call your Aetna Service Advocate at 1-800-884-9565 \(TTY: 711\) and ask to speak with a fertility advocate. Your fertility advocate can explain available services and options. And they can help you maximize your benefits and minimize out-of-pocket costs.

Maternity support

We're here to help you throughout your journey, from pregnancy to parenthood. The maternity support program is included with your Aetna® medical plan. Enroll early and get a reward when you sign up by the 16th week of pregnancy. To get started, call your Aetna Service Advocate at 1-800-884-9565 \(TTY: 711\).

Contraceptives (birth control)

Family planning services and female contraceptives are covered under your Aetna medical plan as follows.

- Two visits per year for education and counseling on contraceptives are covered at 100% with an in-network provider.
- Generic contraceptives are covered at 100% when filled at an in-network pharmacy.
- Contraceptive devices and related services and supplies provided, administered or removed by a doctor during an office visit are covered the same as other medical care.
- Voluntary sterilization procedures and related services and supplies are covered the same as other medical care.

Abortion coverage

Your Aetna medical plan covers abortion services where permitted by state and local laws. If you use an out-of-network abortion provider, services will be covered the same as in network.

Travel and lodging benefits

If covered fertility or abortion services are not available from a network provider within 100 miles of your home, your plan will cover U.S. domestic travel and lodging expenses for you and one companion.

Your medical plan deductible and coinsurance apply, as well as these IRS limits and guidelines:

- Travel by, for example, coach class air, train or bus
- Maximum of $50 per person per night, up to $100 per night, for lodging expenses
- Annual combined maximum of $5,000 for fertility, abortion and/or gender-affirming travel and lodging services

Before you travel, you must contact your Aetna Service Advocate to verify provider availability (not required for abortion services). To be reimbursed for travel and/or lodging costs, you must also submit a claim form.

Heart health

Did you know? Heart disease is the leading cause of death for women. Risk factors include:

- Diabetes
- Family history
- High blood pressure
- High cholesterol
- Obesity
- Physical inactivity

To reduce your risk, talk with your PCP about your personal and family medical history. Ask about lifestyle changes you can make for better health, such as diet changes and more physical activity.

And be sure to stay up to date on your routine checkups and heart health screenings. This is especially important after menopause, when women have a higher risk for cardiovascular conditions than before their perimenopausal years.

If you have a heart disease diagnosis, an Aetna® nurse care manager may reach out to help you manage your condition and navigate the health care system. Or you can contact a nurse care manager on your own by calling your Aetna Service Advocate at 1-800-884-9565 \(TTY: 711\).

Bone and joint health

Your bones and joints play the important roles of supporting your body and keeping its movements smooth and efficient. You can take steps to keep them healthy, such as:

- Getting enough calcium and vitamin D
- Exercising regularly
- Limiting alcohol
- Avoiding tobacco

Stretching and balance exercises can help you avoid falls and other injuries.

About osteoporosis

Osteoporosis is a disease that causes bones to become weak and brittle and break easily. While family history plays a role, other risk factors can set women up for bone loss, such as:

- A family history of hip fracture
- Increasing age
- A thin or small frame
- Menopause
- Being white or Asian
- Physical inactivity
- Certain medications
- Smoking
- Heavy drinking

If you're age 65 or older or have a family history of osteoporosis, your PCP or Ob/Gyn may order a bone density test. This test can determine whether you have bone loss and to what extent. Depending on your results, your doctor may recommend calcium and vitamin D supplements and/or a prescription drug that prevents bone loss or builds up new bone.

Perimenopause and menopause

For most women, menopause begins 12 months after their last period. This generally happens between ages 45 and 55, but women may experience changes in the years leading up to that point. This is called menopausal transition or perimenopause. Before, during and after menopause, many women experience symptoms that affect both body and mind.

It's important to remember that the experiences of menopause can vary from person to person. For example, people who've had cancer or certain surgeries may be more likely to have an earlier onset of menopause. Transgender or non-binary people may also experience changes in different ways.

These can include:

- Fatigue
- Heart palpitations
- Hot flashes
- Low sex drive
- Night sweats
- Poor memory
- Trouble concentrating
- Trouble sleeping
- Vaginal dryness
- Weight gain

Treating symptoms

Menopause is a natural part of growing older. If you're having symptoms of menopause, here are some things you can do to manage your symptoms and enjoy a better quality of life:

Control hot flashes

A hot flash is a sudden feeling of heat in the upper part or all of your body. Your face and neck may become flushed. Red blotches may appear on your chest, back and arms. Heavy sweating and cold shivering can follow. Hot flashes can be very mild or strong enough to wake you (called night sweats). You may be able to treat them with lifestyle changes. Or you may want to talk with your doctor about taking hormones. Learn more on the National Institute on Aging website.

Exercise and eat healthy

Improving your lifestyle can reduce your symptoms and lower your risk for heart disease, osteoporosis and other long-term problems linked to aging. To learn about resources Adobe offers for getting and staying well, see Physical wellbeing on Benefits.Adobe.com.

Keep up with preventive care

Stay up to date with preventive care exams and screenings. Your Aetna® plan covers preventive care at 100% when you use a network doctor. Whether you prefer a PCP or Ob/Gyn, you can always find network doctors by logging in to your member website at Aetna.com > Find Care & Pricing.

Reduce stress

Try mind and body relaxation, such as breathing exercises. This may help with hot flashes and mood symptoms. Visit the Aetna Behavioral Health website for tips and resources to help reduce stress. Log in at Aetna.com and scroll down to Mental Health Support & Services.

See a certified menopause practitioner

You may want to consider visiting a menopause specialist who can help you navigate the time before, during and after menopause. Ask your doctor if they're trained or certified in menopause or can refer you to someone who is. You can also use the Menopause Society's website to find a provider trained in menopause care.

Sleep better

Around midlife, some women start having trouble sleeping. Maybe you can't fall asleep, you wake too early or night sweats wake you up. Try the Headspace meditation app to help you manage stress and sleep better. To learn more about this and other resources Adobe offers, see Emotional wellbeing on Benefits.Adobe.com.

Take care of your bladder

Midlife may come with a loss of bladder control. You may have a sudden urge to urinate, or urine may leak during exercise, sneezing or laughing. Talk to your PCP or Ob/Gyn. Or find a urologist by logging in at Aetna.com > Find Care & Pricing.

Take medication or hormones

Your PCP or Ob/Gyn may want to prescribe medication, hormone therapy or other treatments that may be right for you based on your personal and family medical history. Check the Aetna formulary to see which drugs are covered by your plan.

Visit a MinuteClinic® near you

Did you know that MinuteClinic offers menopause treatment? Ask a MinuteClinic provider — in person or virtually — about treatment options that can relieve menopause symptoms.

To learn more, visit CVS.com/minuteclinic > Women's services.

Use your mental well-being resources

Take advantage of programs like the Spring Health Employee Assistance Program, AbleTo and Teladoc Health behavioral health to help with depression, anxiety and other issues that can arise or intensify during menopause and beyond.
